Romney Calls For United State In U.P. Inaugural

MARQUETTE (AP)—Calling for a physically and economically united Michigan, third-term Gov. George Romney was inaugurated for the sixth time today in an Upper Peninsula ceremony that has become a tradition of his administration.

Although officially inaugurated in Lansing on Jan. 2, Romney, his wife Lenore, and other state officials flew to Marquette on the chilly shores of Lake Superior for his third UP inauguration.

In a speech to be delivered at Northern Michigan University's 5,200-seat fieldhouse, Romney stressed the need for the removal of "the present stifling tolls on the Mackinac Bridge and praised the UP for its progress in recovering from economic problems.

Although he emphasized matters of Upper Peninsula interest, Romney's speech covered much the same territory as did his Jan. 2 message in which he called for fiscal reform and tax action in the present legislative session.

Only last Thursday Romney recommended a $1.15 billion budget for fiscal 1967-68 and called for a state income tax in his annual budget recommendations.

"I have said before, and I say again," Romney emphasized, "we will not spend more next year than we are willing to pay for in taxes."

New Optimism

He also repeated his call for Michigan "to move ahead into a new generation of progress." "Together we have passed through a period of preparation," he said. "The people have a new attitude about their state—a new involvement in its affairs—a new optimism for its future."

Taking a swing at the Democratic federal administration, Romney, considered a top contender for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, said the people "see the futility of trying to meet tomorrow's complex human problems with yesterday's over-simplified governmental answers."

"The people feel the stifling consequences of over-centralization, conformity, manipulated consensus, and arbitrary unchecked power, whether public or private."

"Happy New Tradition"

Romney described his UP inauguration, which began with a campaign promise in 1962, as a "happy new tradition."

He said "its purpose is not to set the Upper Peninsula apart from the rest of Michigan, but to reassert the fundamental unity of our state and of its people."

He described the UP as "one of America's last great physical frontiers," and cited its progress during the past four years in overcoming economic difficulties.

When Romney came to the UP for his first special inauguration at Escanaba, he said he regarded revitalization of the UP's industrial and business economy as one of Michigan's most urgent problems.

Employment Gains

At the time, many of the iron and copper mines—which along with timber and tourism make up the mainstays of the area's economy—had been closed and unemployment was well above the state average.

"In four years, employment in the UP has increased seven per cent, while unemployment has declined 39 per cent," he said. "Utilities, businesses and industries are expanding at record rates."

"Associations for voluntary action to lick local problems are gaining strength. And for two years in a row, the Upper Peninsula has been the home of the 'Michigan Product of the Year.'"

"Expanded conservation, highway and tourist programs are developing the Upper Peninsula's natural resources and recreational potential," Romney said.

Pope Paul And Robert Kennedy Talk Viet Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., talked "in great detail" with Pope Paul VI today about ways of finding peace in Vietnam, then ended his European tour and flew toward New York.

After conferring with the head of the Roman Catholic Church for 35 minutes in the Pope's library, Kennedy said, "We talked of Vietnam and the entire Southeast Asian situation in great detail."

Kennedy said at the airport that any comment on a possible new papal peace move must come from the Vatican.

Kennedy said his European talks had been "very useful." His meeting with the Pope was the last of a series of private contacts with leaders in West European capitals to discuss world affairs, including Vietnam.

Earlier this week the Pope held a historic meeting with Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny.

Kennedy's audience with the Pope came after statements by the senator that the coming weeks would be crucial in the search for a Vietnam solution. He said his talks in London, Paris, Bonn and Rome had reinforced this belief.

The third and last of the year-end peace periods—the Buddhist New Year—starts Feb. 8. Pope Paul has appealed to both sides to extend the truce into a permanent cease-fire for a period of negotiations.

In a news conference Friday night Kennedy insisted there were indications of a change in Hanoi's attitude.

President Johnson said Thursday that he was unaware of any serious effort by Hanoi to end the fighting.

Kennedy's call on the Pope was devoid of ceremony.

Hessel Man On U.P. Fair Board

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has announced appointments to the Upper Peninsula State Fair Board and the State Crippled Children's Commission.

Albert Linberg of Hessel was named to the fair board to succeed Rep. Robert Davis, R-St. Ignace, resigned.

Linberg, a resort operator and township supervisor, will serve the balance of a term expiring May 24, 1969.

Charles Yeates of Allegan was named to the crippled children's commission to succeed Genevieve Blakeley of Detroit, resigned.

Both appointments require senate confirmation.

U.S. Jets Brave Flak To Bomb Red Rail Yard

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Explosions and fire, believed touched off by Viet Cong saboteurs did heavy damage today to large sections of a huge U.S. Army ammunition dump near Saigon.

It was the fourth time in a little more than three months that the munitions depot at Long Binh 14 miles north of Saigon has been hit.

Fourteen hours after the first explosion at 3:25 a.m., smoke still poured from many parts of the dump. It was still too hot and dangerous for U.S. Army demolitions experts to enter.

In war action, U.S. B52 heavy bombers staged four raids over South Vietnam today for a second straight day.

American jet bombers flew through intense flak Friday to pound a major rail yard and other targets north of Hanoi for the first time in more than two weeks of poor weather.

In all, U.S. pilots flew 57 bombing missions—about 200 individual strikes—against the north. Among the forays, Navy fliers from three aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf reported damaging or destroying 16 cargo barges and junks on the coast and in inland waterways.

In South Vietnam, ground fighting continued on a small scale with the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands reporting scattered, short engagements.

Hanoi Indignant At Johnson Step To Peace Version

MOSCOW (AP)—President Johnson's statement that he had not seen genuine peace efforts by North Vietnam met with "legitimate indignation" in Hanoi, Tass, the Soviet news agency said today.

A report from a Tass correspondent in Hanoi said Johnson ignored an earlier statement by North Vietnam's Foreign Minister Nguyen Dai Trinh on the possibility of talks "after an unconditional end to the bombings" of North Vietnam.

The Tass report claimed the North Vietnam government "many times demonstrated its strivings for peace" and said "it was the first to put forward the well-known four points which constitute the most reasonable and just grounds for the solution of the Vietnamese problem."

Astronauts Tried To Flee Spaceship Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Apollo astronauts reported fire in their spaceship three times within nine seconds and had started prescribed escape action when they died, investigators say.

A preliminary report made public Friday night—almost one week to the hour after the Cape Kennedy launch pad accident—indicated that smoke rather than fire killed the three astronauts.

"The official death certificates of the crew members list the cause of death as asphyxiation due to smoke inhalation due

Tax Measures Introduced In State Senate

LANSING (AP)—Two packages of bills, embodying a large portion of Gov. George Romney's proposed budget and tax plan, were introduced Friday in the State Senate.

Nine of the measures were executive budget bills providing funds for operation of several state departments during fiscal 1967-68.

Five would provide for a state income tax and reduce certain other taxes.

The appropriations and tax proposals were included in Romney's message to the Legislature Thursday in which he recommended a $1.15 billion budget for the fiscal year and enactment of the state's first income tax.

The governor is required by the constitution to submit to the Legislature a budget for the ensuing fiscal period and to submit general appropriations bill to embody the proposed spending.

Past legislatures have quickly killed the governor's budget bills, to get around a constitutional requirement that his bills be acted upon before any other financial matter.

Killing the bills allowed the Legislature to move on to other money matters without having to wait for the results of budget hearings by House and Senate spending committees.

Other bills, written by committees, were similar to the governor's recommendations in most areas.

The 1967-68 spending measures, introduced by Frank Beidle, R-St. Clair, chairman of the appropriations committee, included one to provide $237 million for the Department of Education and the state institutions of higher education.

The tax bills, introduced by Taxation Committee Chairman Harry DeMasco, R-Battle Creek, provide for a 2½ per cent personal income tax, a 3 per cent corporate tax and an 8 per cent tax on financial institutions.

Hold The Line Budget Dismays School Leaders

LANSING (AP)—Educators failed to grasp the needs of K-12 (Kindergarten to 12th grade) education in depth, gravity and immediacy.

"Unless more money is pumped into the public school system, Linné said, 'we will have an educational corpse instead of a public education system.'"

A statement signed by representatives of all the public school groups attending the session expressed "shock and dismay" at the governor's budget proposals.

"Since you have indicated to us that the package is inadequate to retain the present educational services and that you recognize the need for improving such services, we urge you to reconsider your proposal," the statement said.

Romney held successive meetings during the day with the state college presidents, community college presidents and elementary and secondary school officials.

"There was a feeling my budget didn't provide adequate funds for education," Romney told a news conference. "But there was support for tax reform—I didn't find anyone against it."

Romney said his budget for the public schools, which has no improvement in the number of dollars per student, "is not what I would have liked to have presented if tax and economic conditions were different."

Big Labor Split Could Come In April Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther appears bent on pulling his United Auto Workers Union out of the AFL-CIO, high sources in the giant labor federation said today. The break could come in April.

Rebellious and red-haired Reuther resigned as AFL-CIO vice president Friday but stopped short of a complete withdrawal.

Reuther's latest action in his long-term attack on AFL-CIO President George Meany's leadership raised "a distinct possibility" that the 1.3 million auto workers will walk out altogether, informed sources concluded.

Reuther has conducted a nine-month running barrage of criticism, charging that the AFL-CIO has failed to live up to its aims in creating a better life for workers and the nation.

The auto workers will convene in April. If they quit the AFL-CIO, it would be the first major crack in the foundation of the "House of Labor" built by Meany and Reuther in 1955.

Wants Meany Job?

Meany headed the old American Federation of Labor and Reuther the Congress of Industrial Organizations when the two often warring factions merged 11 years ago.

Meany, now 73, has been AFL-CIO president from the start and his partisans say the 60-year-old Reuther just wants Meany's job.

Withdrawal of the UAW would be the biggest loss of members for the 13.5-million member AFL-CIO since James R. Hoffa's 1.7-million member Teamsters Union was kicked out on corruption charges in 1955.

The UAW is the biggest of the 129 AFL-CIO unions. There was no sign that any other union would walk out.

Plan Replacement

Reuther made it clear he is not quitting as president of the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department, which has some 60 unions totaling six million members.

AFL-CIO headquarters here maintained official silence, but it was learned that Meany made no attempt to dissuade Reuther from resigning and immediately made plans to replace him on the federation's 25-man Executive Council when it meets in Miami Beach later this month.

Reuther's assault on Meany began last June after the AFL-CIO's delegate walked out of the International Labor Organization, a United Nations agency, in Geneva because it elected a Communist president.

This, said Reuther, hurt President Johnson's efforts to ease cold war tensions.

Meany Keeps Silent

Meany since then has kept quiet while Reuther steadily escalated his criticism, charging that "the AFL-CIO lacks the social vision, the dynamic thrust, the crusading spirit that should characterize the progressive, modern labor movement."

When the UAW fell nearly three months behind in its dues to the AFL-CIO—which total more than $1 million a year—Meany still said nothing.

Although UAW paid some of the back dues before facing possible suspension, Meany let it be known he wouldn't kick Reuther's union out anyway.

The Reuther resignation again brought silence from Meany, but observers said it locks this time as if Meany and Reuther have had it.

Soo International Span Traffic Dips

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—January traffic over the International Bridge at Sault Ste. Marie was down slightly from a year ago.

The bridge authority said there were 23,000 bridge crossings during the month, 1.6 per cent down from a year ago. January revenues of $30,181 were 5.5 per cent off the previous year.

A strike at the Algoma Steel Co. plant in the Canadian Soo, resulting in less multiaxle truck traffic, was mainly responsible for the drop, the authority said.

Vehicle traffic over the bridge has topped the 3.2-million mark since it was opened in October, 1962, the authority reported.

Mead Announces 3 Retirements

Mead Corp. has recognized three employees for a total of 99 years of service to the company on their retirements from the Escanaba Division.

They are Milton C. Snyder, 1021 10th Ave., S.; Joseph H. Dubord Jr., 1826 8th Ave., N., and Frank L. Waltenbaugh, Rte. 1, Gladstone.

"We find it difficult to accept their retirement because they have certainly made a contribution to our operation, but time passes and we all eventually have to retire," said George S. Douglas, general manager.

Snyder started with Mead Sept. 3, 1925, as a finisher in the finishing room. The same year, he transferred to the machine room as a 5th Hand on the paper machines. Through the years, he advanced to the position of Machine Tender.

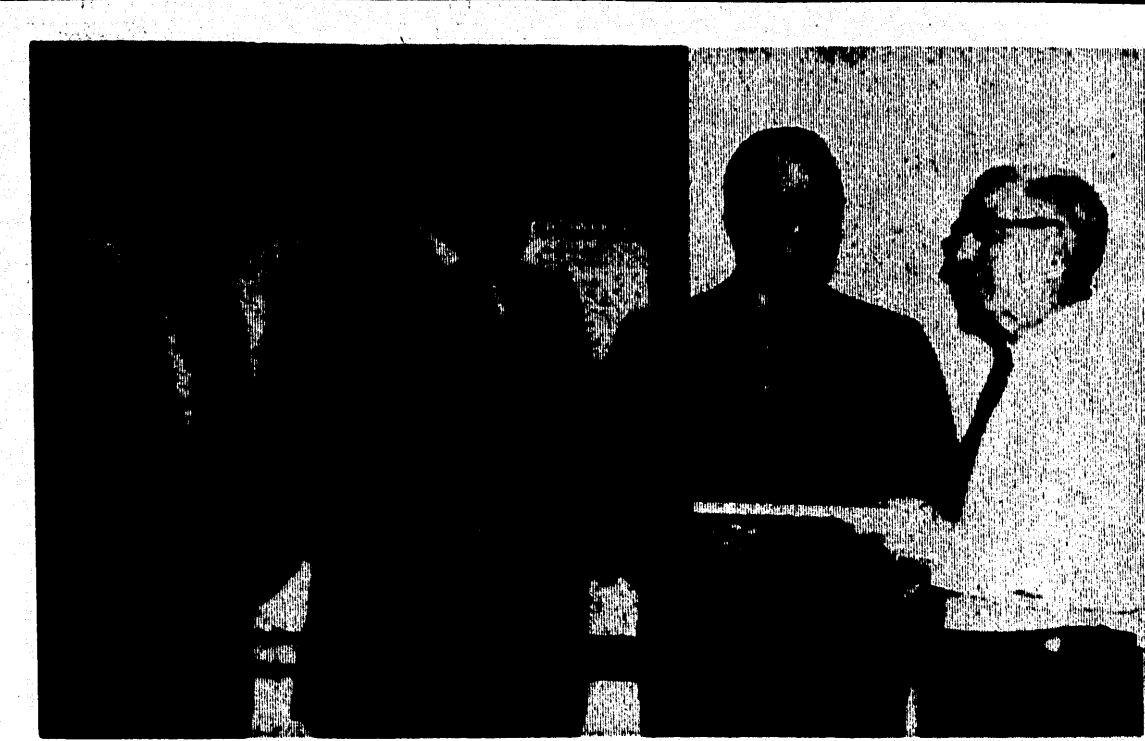

In 1954, he was promoted to Chief Coating Operator and in Aug., 1957, he was further advanced to the position of Paper Mill Tour Foreman, the position he held until his retirement.

Milton is part of a brother combination that has worked for Mead. Gerald retired from Mead in 1964 and his brother, George, is presently employed by the division as a paper-maker.

Dubord originally started with Mead in 1929. After a break in service, he rehired with Mead on Aug. 25, 1945, in the maintenance department. He advanced through the department and retired as a First Class Millwright. Joe's son, Gerald, is presently working for the Escanaba Division.

Waltenbaugh started his career March 1, 1931, as a Hydro-Plant Operator at No. 3 Dam on the Escanaba River. At the time of his employment, the hydro-plants were owned and operated by the Upper Michigan Power & Light Company. However, in 1958, Mead took over ownership of the dams and Waltenbaugh's service time was recognized by Mead. In 1958, Frank was promoted to Chief Operator at No. 3 Dam, a position he held until his retirement.

Douglas also announced, effective Feb. 1, promotions of Thorold I. Papineau to Paper Mill Tour Foreman and Ernest G. Anderson to Chief Operator at No. 3 Dam. Papineau started with Mead in 1932 and Anderson joined the corporation in 1947.

Arnold Succeeds Clair Hekhuis In Education Post

LANSING (AP) — The State Department of Education announced Friday appointment of Dale Arnold, a former newspaper man in Albion, Detroit and Lansing, as public information director at $15,200 a year. He succeeds Clair Hekhuis, who resigned to take a college education post in California. Arnold, 38, has been administrative assistant to the Michigan Speaker of the House for the last year.

President Ulysses S. Grant's father was a tanner.

College Clarifies Recreation Role

Bay de Noc Community College President Richard Rinehart today issued a statement in an effort to clarify a possible misunderstanding concerning the college and proposed recreation facilities for Escanaba. "I expressed the opinion that the city should not include the college in its recreation building plans at a recent meeting of the city council," Rinehart said.

"I stated this after listening to an excellent council discussion of the many issues and problems involving non-city students and sites. The college has not yet selected a site (for a new building) and proximity to a facility mostly used by high school students could prove to be a handicap to the college in its efforts to establish the collegiate image desired by students."

"We appreciate the council's interest in the college and students, however, the college decisions on site will be concerned with many factors related to educational effectiveness and the question of a recreation building is not a major factor in that decision."

In discussion of Escanaba's recreational plans, frequent mention has been made that Bay de Noc Community College is considering a site west of the Escanaba Area High School for a possible new building. A site west of the Area High School has also been mentioned for development into a "recreational complex."

Possible use by Bay de Noc College students has been mentioned in arguments favoring the west of the high school site for new recreation facilities. The location is one of five under consideration by Bay de Noc for a new building.

The woman was told to withdraw the money and return home to wait for a telephone call telling her where to pick up her funds. The men were to use it to check on bank employees. The telephone call never came.

Failure

The City of Milwaukee's test of injecting the chemical TCPA into 70,000 elm trees to strengthen their resistance to Dutch elm disease gave erratic results in 1966, according to the Wildlife Management Institute. A University of Wisconsin plant disease specialist reports that although TCPA was a promising chemical in nursery trials, effectiveness of broad-scale treatments was unpredictable. Reasons for variable results are not understood, but timing and technique of injection are suspected of being more critical than previously believed.

More research is recommended to develop a safe, effective treatment for the destructive disease.

UNDER PERSHING'S COMMAND & WILSON'S ELOQUENCE, U.S. TRIUMPHS IN WORLD WAR I

More than 2-million American doughboys went to Europe in 1917 and 1918 in World War I; under Gen. John J. Pershing, they fought at Ypres, Belleau Wood, St. Mihiel and in the Argonne Forest, among other places. As to why America entered the war, President Woodrow Wilson said, "The world must be made safe for democracy" and "America... spends her blood and might for the principles that gave her birth and happiness and the peace she has treasured. God helping her, she can do no other."

Although America abhors war, the reasons it fights when necessary were never more eloquently expressed than that.

Finally, at exactly 11 A.M. Monday, November 11, 1918, bugles blew "cessa fire" and the biggest war in the history of the world up to that time came to an end, and America and her Allies had triumphed.

Robot Of The Future Will Do Housework

LONDON (AP) - Prof. Thring is developing the darnedest thing - such as a robot that will revolutionize house-keeping by doing every odious chore from ironing clothes to cleaning the oven.

"Within 10 years time," says the distinguished engineer, "we could have a robot that will completely eliminate all routine operations around the house and remove the drudgery from human life."

Specifically, Thring's thing would:

- Lay and clear dining room tables.
- Make beds and change sheets.
- Dust, sweep and clear up.
- Wash clothes and iron them.
- Press suits and dresses.
- Scrub floors, baths, sinks and stoves.
- Prepare food - but not cook it.

Would Have Memory

Thring's thing would be taught to remember the correct place for furniture. And after performing the household tasks, it would fold itself up, put itself away and recharge its own batteries.

Prof. Meredith Woodridge Thring is professor of mechanical engineering at London University's Queen Mary College, and his accomplishments and distinctions fill half a column in Who's Who.

"There is more drudgery being done by educated women in the home than anywhere else," he says. "My aim is to relieve that drudgery and enable women - and their husbands who help them - to lead civilized lives."

"There is nothing in this problem that could not be developed and solved with scientific principles we already know."

"But all of this requires money. It requires the same sort of money that was spent in developing a successful motor car, but nothing like the money which you Americans seem to be spending in the space race."

"I think the motor car industry, if it's wise and looks to the future, should be looking for a second string to its bow. The robot is the obvious one because, like a car, every family will want a robot. The car industry could make and supply them."

For how much?

"For about the same price as a small family car," he replied.

Logical Brain

Prof. Thring, 51, said man has three brains - emotional, intellectual or logical and physical. "The robot of the future will have a very good logical brain," he said, "but it can never have the emotional brain. It will never do original or creative work, artistic work, inventive work, or anything like that."

"The great advantage of robots is that we can build logical decisions into them, based on the best value judgments we can make."

"Robots are our machines. We make them do what we want them to do, not what they want to do."

Asked what will happen to people of lower intelligence when scientists produce the super robots, Thring's answer was: "When the robot has eliminated the routine work, there will be, of course, some people who can't do creative work for themselves."

Menominee won the Great Northern Conference football championship with a 5-0 record and fashioned a 7-1-1 mark overall . . . The Maroons had a 3-2 conference record in basketball and were 7-4 in all games entering last night's contest with Escanaba.

We fail to understand Forsythe's reasoning . . . The Menominee athlete did not violate a Great Northern Conference regulation, he violated a Michigan High School Athletic Association rule . . . If the MHSAA ruled that the violation should be punished by forfeiture of the non-conference games, then the conference games should be automatically forfeited as well . . . Gypsy certainly could not be eligible to compete in conference games but not in games outside the conference.

MILWAUKEE—A seven-step plan to provide Milwaukee commerce and industry with effective competition among railroads, in the event the city's present two major rail carriers merge, was outlined here by Leonard H. Murray, president of Soo Line Railroad.

Murray announced his company's plans to seek, through conditions imposed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, full access to all Milwaukee-area industries: full rights to handle all types of freight between Milwaukee and all parts of the country; and a shorter, faster connection between Milwaukee freight yards and the Soo's Chicago-Twin Cities main line.

Murray also announced the Soo's plans to ask the ICC to order the organization of a neutral terminal railroad company to serve industries in the Milwaukee area. The neutral terminal company would be MERRILL, Wis. — "Failure to put a man on the moon would have little effect on us or our posterity. Failure to make proper use of our land and its productive capacity could constitute the greatest catastrophe the world has ever known," Dr. J. F. Saeman, chief, division wood chemistry, Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, told Trees for Tomorrow Camp coordinators.

"Our 100 million tons of low grade wood deserves attention for its potential as a source of food. This material is about 70 percent carbohydrate and in the hands of chemists could be converted to products useful in human or animal nutrition," Saeman stated. "I have come to look upon our forest industry as a sleeping giant waiting to be roused by proper research effort. In Wisconsin in the years ahead there is no question about markets for pulpwood.

"When we began as a reforestation organization 23 years ago, we did not realize before the ICC during hearings on the proposed North Western-Milwaukee Road merger.

The Soo currently serves Milwaukee daily, but its trains enter the city over a route of the Milwaukee Road which adds more than 100 unnecessary miles to the transportation of freight moving between Milwaukee and Chicago, the principal channel of traffic. Terms of the contract between the Soo and the Milwaukee Road prevent the Soo from competing for traffic moving between Milwaukee and most of the southwestern United States, and between Milwaukee and such cities as Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City, and Des Moines.

Under the Soo's proposal, such traffic restrictions would be removed. The Soo would serve Milwaukee with trains which, operating over the shortest route from the Soo main line to Milwaukee via Waukeesa, would be competitive with trains of a unified North Western - Milwaukee Road.

Escanaba police reported that attempts were made to break into two business places last night but both failed and nothing is reported missing from either establishment. ## Courreges Likes 'Little Girl' Look For Spring

PARIS (AP) — Courreges brought out skirts three inches above the knee in his spring and summer collection today, and added knee-high striped socks with Baby Jane one-strap shoes. The look was very much "little girl and little girl," according to a selected few who saw the opening show.

Fashion writers were held off until a late afternoon showing. The collection appeared to be more feminine than last season's.

His girls were still wholesome, some sporty, healthy, fresh-air specimens, wearing their hair in short pony tails or short cut.

He showed scalloped edgings around necklines, hemlines, sleeves and pockets, similar to what Givenchy and Balenciaga have shown. There were heart-shaped necklines, a departure from stark geometry.

Red suits were piped in white. The collection closed with three girls dressed in red suits with varying white detailing.

1018 SOUTH THIRTEENTH STREET - ESCANABA, MICH. 49829

Dear Friends:

Again, we would like to report on the activities of St. Francis Hospital to the people of Escanaba and neighboring communities.

During the fiscal year which ended on September 26, 1966, we experienced many changes nationally and locally with the initiation of the Medicare and Medicaid programs, staff shortages, economic security demands, and the rise in patients' costs.

We shall always direct our efforts toward meeting the rising hospital costs through the improvement in operations and services, thereby giving the patient the best possible care.

The progress during the past year could not have been accomplished without the cooperation, dedication, and loyalty of the Sisters, the employees, the Medical Staff, the Advisory Board, the Ladies Auxiliary, the Clergy of all faiths, and the people of the St. Francis Hospital service area.

We wish to express our gratitude by reporting on hospital activities to the people of the community, the Escanaba Daily Press, and the local radio stations. We wish to express our sincerest thanks to our benefactors who have made it possible to purchase equipment for the betterment of service to the patients.

We have dedicated and shall continue to dedicate our efforts to that most important individual within our hospital—the patient. His welfare will always be our primary goal; and we plan to provide the best possible service for his physical, mental, and spiritual needs.

The continued support of everyone in the community is needed in order to help us reach our goals.
